struck to cast their vote in his favor for president first, last and all the time, and to use all honorable efforts to secure his nomination. The thirty delegates strictly represent the democracy of Indiana in the Chicago national convention are instructed to vote as a unit upon all questions involving platform or candidate in the convention."

The storm came immediately after the reading of the platform had been completed. Judge McNutt as soon as he had finished the last sentence in the platform moved its adoption. Ex-Congressman W. D. Bynum, after insisting on recognition, read to the convention the money plank of the democratic convention of 1892 and said:

"If it be claimed that the resolution was not clearly understood, that it was of doubtful construction, the subsequent act of the convention in nominating Grover Cleveland with his well-known views, removed all doubt as to the platform. Indiana, with the full knowledge of the position of Mr. Cleveland, indorsed him as a candidate by an overwhelming vote. If this was democracy four years ago, why should we turn our backs upon the resolution now?"

It was nearly 3 o'clock before the convention was ready to nominate a candidate for governor. The name of Benjamin F. Shively, the candidate of the silver crowd, was received with a tremendous shout of approval. James Seller of Montgomery county was put in nomination as a second free silver candidate. It was easy for Shively. This vote showed the strength of the contending forces in the convention. Seller got out of the race soon after the balloting began and the vote stood: Shively, 1,644; Cooper, 103. The 16 to 1 ratio had been established.

Ex-Congressman Cooper in a dramatic manner moved to make the nomination of Mr. Shively unanimous. As the representative of the administration wing of the party, he held out the olive-branch to the free silver men. The nominee made an interesting speech in thanking the convention for the nomination.

The ticket was completed as follows:

Delegates-at-Large—Daniel W. Voorhees, David Turpie, James D. McCabe, G. V. Menzies

Alternates-at-large—John E. Lamb, D. F. Allen, John C. Nelson, C. K. Thorpe.

For Governor—Benjamin F. Shively. For Lieutenant Governor—John V. Lawler.

For Appellate Court Judges—Edwin Taylor, George E. Ross, O. J. Lotz, Frank E. Gavin, Theodore Davis.

For Secretary of State—Samuel L. Raiston.

For Auditor—Joseph T. Fanning.

For Treasurer—Morgan Chaneller.

For Superintendent of Public Instruction—W. B. St. Clair.

NEW YORK FOR GOLD.

Democrats Meet at Albany — Against Free Coinage.

Saratoga, N. Y., June 25.—The democratic state convention that convened Wednesday put itself on record on the financial platform and selected its delegates to the national convention. It declined to name its electors, has not put itself on record on any state issue and left the selection of a state committee until the next state convention.

These things have all been done at the instance of the leaders and with the avowed purpose of placing the party in such a position that no matter what the platform of the national convention is it can be supported by the electors and the party in this state.

The convention was called to order by Chairman Hinckley, who introduced Mayor John Boyd Thacher of Albany as temporary chairman. In the course of his speech on assuming the chair Mr. Thacher said:

"It is the duty of the democracy in the present crisis to speak clearly on the financial question. The party of Jefferson has always favored the best money in use, the money adopted as the standard by the most enlightened nations of the earth. Neither consideration of expediency nor the selfish interest of those who own silver bullion should lead us to depart from the safe and secure path."

During the call of the roll of delegates there were enthusiastic cheers when the name of William C. Whitney was reached and a demonstration of almost equal fervor greeted the name of David B. Hill a few minutes later.

The platform, which was read by Senator Hill, was adopted. It contains the following financial plank:

"We favor gold and silver as the standard money of the country. We are opposed, as a permanent financial policy, to gold monometallism on one hand, or to silver monometallism on the other hand. The pledge contained in the repeal of the Sherman law, which repeal was passed by a democratic congress and approved by a democratic president, should be carefully carried out, wherein it was declared that 'the efforts of the government should be steadily directed to the establishment of such a safe system of bimetallism as will maintain at all times the equal power of every dollar coined or issued by the United States in the markets and in payment of debts.'

"We protest against the increase of the public debt by the issue of interest-bearing bonds, or otherwise, in a time of peace."

"We demand that obligations of the government of every form be paid and be redeemed in conformity with the laws under which they were issued, in coin, gold and silver, at the option of the government of the United States and not at the option of the creditor."

"We believe that public war exists in Cuba and that the parties thereto ought to be accorded all the rights of belligerents."

The platform closes as follows: "We earnestly commend Gov. Mathews, in full confidence of success at the election to the democracy of the United States as a candidate for the presidency, and the delegates from Indiana to the national convention are hereby international co-operation for bimetallism can be secured—to which end all our efforts as a government and as a people should be, in good faith, directed—we favor the rigid maintenance of the present gold standard, essential to the preservation of our national credit, the redemption of our public pledges and the keeping inviolate of our country's honor. We insist that all our paper and silver currency shall be kept absolutely at a parity with gold.

"The United States notes and treasury notes being, in fact, debts of the government, should be gradually paid off, retired and canceled. This should and must be done in such a manner as to cause no contraction of the circulating money of the country. So long as they exist, however, and are permitted to circulate as money they should be redeemable at all times upon demand in the standard money of the country. "The democratic party is pledged to the resolute maintenance of the public credit at all times and under all circumstances, and is therefore opposed to the repeal of any existing statute which enables the secretary of the treasury, by the issue of bonds or otherwise, to provide an adequate fund for the redemption in gold of our paper obligations whenever necessary.

"We reiterate our adherence to the principle of a tariff for revenue only. We are opposed to government partnership with protected monopolies and we demand that import duties, like other taxes, should be impartially laid and their impositions limited to the necessities of the government economically administered. Federal taxation should not be imposed to benefit individual interests at the expense of the general welfare.

"We endorse the administration of President Cleveland and particularly commend him for his determined effort to maintain the financial credit of the United States." The delegates are instructed to vote as a unit.

A resolution expressing sympathy with the insurgents in Cuba was introduced by Congressman Sulzner and adopted. The following delegates and alternates were elected: Delegates-at-large, David B. Hill, Edward Murphy, Roswell P. Flower, Frederick R. Couder.

Alternates-at-large, Robert Earl, S. M. Weed, Jacob A. Carter, William Purcell.

OHIO DEMOCRATS FOR SILVER.

State Convention Declares for Free Coinage at 16 to 1.

Columbus, O., June 25.—It was after 10 o'clock Wednesday when the democratic state convention was called to order by Chairman M. A. Smalley. The only thing in the platform was the resolution on silver, and an attachment for the unit rule involving the silver question at Chicago. There was no reference to the republican legislature or state administration.

GEN. A. J. WARNER.

The convention was called to order at 10:30 by Chairman Matt Smalley, who introduced Temporary Chairman Taylor. In a lengthy keynote speech, Taylor did not refer to anything except the silver question. His declaration for free coinage at 16 to 1 gave the silver advocates their first opportunity to cheer, and they did it vociferously.

After the report of the committee on permanent organization, Gen. A. J. Warner was escorted to the chair as the presiding officer and was received with an ovation. Gen. Warner was introduced as an apostle of 16 to 1. He urged all to sacrifice personal preferences and all other matters for the silver issue. The people had made the issue and the St. Louis convention had emphasized the issue by adopting a single gold standard. The lines were never so distinctly drawn. There was no longer any doubt about what would be done at Chicago on the issue. He urged all the advocates of the bimetallic standard of the fathers and of the constitution to unite on one ticket as well as one issue. Gen. Warner's speech was interrupted continuously by applause, especially in his references to the bankruptcy and distress of the masses, and to the heavy tributes that were being levied on them by the money lenders.

After the report on credentials was adopted without opposition, the following majority report on resolutions was presented:

"We, the democrats of Ohio, are unalterably opposed to the single gold standard and demand an immediate return to the constitutional money of gold and silver by the restoration by this government, independent of other nations, of the unrestricted coinage of both silver and gold into standard money at the ratio of 16 to 1, and upon the terms of exact equality existing prior to 1873; such silver coin to be a full legal tender, equally with gold

FEAR LOSS OF LIFE
IN THE BIG FLOODDAMAGE BY A CLOUDBURST IN WEST VIRGINIA.

Immense Loss of Property in Three Counties—Full Reports Not Yet Received—Accident at a "Society Circus" at Springfield, Ill.—Cyclone Sweeps Texas—Storm News.

Wheeling, W. Va., June 25.—Reports from Marshall, Wetzel and Tyler counties, which lie immediately south of here, are to the effect that great damage has been done and some lives have been lost by a great cloudburst about 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. In Marshall the damage in and about Moundsville will reach several thousand dollars. In Tyler county, in the vicinity of Sistersville, the storm created havoc. A mile below Sistersville, the Ohio River railroad was washed out for a distance of a mile and a half, and the rails with the ties attached are lying 200 feet out of position. The loss will be over $10,000. Several houses were washed away, and the occupants narrowly escaped after ropes were thrown to them. Several instances of teams and cattle being washed away are reported. There were five men in one wagon and only two of them were rescued alive. The latest reports from the country districts are that the damage is enormous. Many houses are washed away, and it is feared that there has been much loss of life, but reports on account of the storm are meager.

CRASH AT A SOCIETY CIRCUS.

Serious Accident in Which Several Spring-field People Are Injured.

Springfield, Ill., June 25.—While a "society circus" was in progress on the lawn of the residence of James T. Jones Wednesday evening the seats broke down. A large number of the people were injured, among them:

Mrs. J. L. Hudson, leg broken.

General Alfred Orendorff, late adjutant general of the state, bone broken in foot.

Postmaster Reddick M. Ridgely, badly bruised.

Miss Sallie Perkins, ankle crushed.

G. R. Brainerd, back injured.

Mrs. G. R. Brainerd, badly bruised.

Mrs. E. W. Dana, ankle strained.

A dozen others were slightly hurt.

Governor and Mrs. Altgeld were among those present, but escaped injury. The seats, which were arranged in regular circus style, were weakly supported and the weight of many persons caused them to collapse.

Cyclone Sweeps Over Texas.

Dallas, Texas, June 25.—A report has reached here that a cyclone swept across the country from Wills Point to Waco, a distance of 200 miles. The Houston and Texas Central station at Garrett was destroyed and heavy damage done at Wills Point and Waco. Details have not been received, but it is feared that there has been loss of life in the track of the storm.

Another Victim of the Tornado.

Mascoutah, Ill., June 25.—Miss Emma Krauss died at New Baden from the effects of injuries sustained in the recent tornado. Her death increases the death-roll at New Baden to fifteen, with a dozen others still suffering from serious injuries.

EPWORTH CONVENTION.

Nearly 1,000 Methodist Young People Gather at Springfield, Ill.

Springfield, Ill., June 25.—The state convention of the Epworth League opened Wednesday afternoon at the state house, with nearly 1,000 in attendance.

Gov. Altgeld, who was to have delivered an address of welcome, excused himself until tomorrow on account of a severe cold.

The Rev. J. A. Kumler of this city welcomed the delegates, and responses were made by E. B. Crawford of Aurora on behalf of Rock River conference, A. W. Lowther of Harmon for Central Illinois conference, C. B. Taylor of Lincoln for Illinois conference, and P. M. Hamilton of Jerseyville for Southern Illinois conference. A feature of the afternoon was the fraternal visit from the 300 members of the Luther league convention, which was in session during the day at Grace church.

Arbitration Negotiations.

London, June 25.—The St. James's Gazette says that Great Britain and the United States have agreed to publish simultaneously, within a fortnight, all the arbitration correspondence exchanged between the governments of the two countries. The Gazette says that no definite conclusions have been reached, though considerable progress has been made toward a general treaty of arbitration between the two countries.

Bayard Receives His Degree.

Oxford, June 25.—The honorary degree of D. C. L. was conferred today upon Thomas F. Bayard, the United States ambassador; Joseph Chamberlain, the secretary of state for the colonies; John Morley, M. P., late chief secretary for Ireland; Prof. Francis Adolph Marsch, professor of English language at Lafayette college, Pennsylvania, and five others.

Urgent Appeal to Silver Men.

Topeka, Kan., June 25.—The Topeka Advocate, United States Senator W. A. Peffer's paper, prints an editorial entitled "The Situation Is Perilous," in which the populists are advised to pursue a strictly middle-of-the-road policy in its nomination, but inviting the democrats to join them. In another editorial the Advocate says it cannot at present endorse Senator Teller's nomination for president.

JUDGE TRUMBULL DEAD.

Aged Jurist's Days Ended—A Long Career of Honor.

Chicago, June 25.—Lyman Trumbull died this morning at his home, 4108 Lake avenue, at 3 o'clock. He had been ill a long time, but rallied at intervals, causing hope that he might eventually recover. His last relapse, however, settled his fate in the mind of his physicians, and the end has been expected daily for the past week.

Lyman Trumbull was born at Colchester, New London county, Conn., in 1813. A career like his comes to but few men. For more than sixty years he has been a life of ceaseless activity, and it is not hyperbole to say that in all those years his work belonged to the nation.

Cleveland Displeased With Whitney.

Washington, June 25.—The President is said to be displeased with ex-Secretary Whitney because of his published statement on the situation. He is said to have expressed the opinion that the best plan for the sound-money men would have been to go to Chicago and make a good fight for sound-money. The silver people say there will be no scarcity of money in their campaign. One of them in discussing this phase of the situation said: "Wall street and the advocates of the gold standard threaten to spend big money to elect McKinley and Hobart. We will see them dollar for dollar, and if that kind of campaign influence is needed this year we will supply it."

Wheat Average Is Big. Minneapolis, Minn., June 25.—Reports from fifty wheat counties in Minnesota and the Dakotas show no reduction in the acreage of the spring-wheat states a year ago. All but three report the condition of the wheat as good. The total acreage is estimated at 9,000,000 acres, or 900,000 more than the government estimate. There is a decrease in the Red River valley, but it is compensated for by increases elsewhere. The reports show from 7,000,000 to 8,000,000 bushels of last year's crop still in the farmers' hands. On this basis, the crop will not exceed 190,000 bushels, or considerably less than the estimates.

Honor Free Silver Champions.

Salt Lake City, Utah, June 25.—When Senator Cannon and Representative Allen of Utah and Delegate A. C. Cleveland of Nevada arrived in Salt Lake hundreds of admiring citizens met them at the depot with carriages, flowers and a brass band. They were escorted to the Knutsford hotel, where they received an ovation and each spoke briefly of their action at St. Louis, declaring their faith in republican principles, excepting those outlined in the financial plank at St. Louis. A mass meeting was held at the theater. Senator Cannon, Congressman Allen and A. C. Cleveland were the speakers.

Family Quarrel Causes Murder.

Chanute, Kan., June 25.—Twenty miles west of here T. J. Newman, aged 71 years, shot and fatally wounded his son-in-law, B. F. Worthing, because the latter had threatened to have him arrested. Later Newman tried to shoot his 18-year-old daughter, but was prevented from reaching her. He was taken to Fredonia to prevent lynching. The shooting followed a family quarrel.

Armenians Killed at Van.

Constantinople, June 25.—Disturbances of a most serious nature occurred at Van on Monday. A large number of Armenians were killed and many sought refuge in the British consulate. It is estimated that 400 persons were killed on both sides in the rioting of last week and of Monday.

Eight Delegates from Texas.

Penfield, Tex., June 25.—The silver state convention reassembled Wednesday at 9:30 o'clock, and, after several hours' discussion, adopted their platform. It declares for the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1, regardless of the action of foreign countries. The platform also condemns republican fallacies. The convention decided to send eight delegates to Chicago instead of four. They were instructed for Bland.

Change in Betting Rules.

Birmingham bookmakers have lost so much money during the last two racing seasons that they have decided to discontinue place betting and to pay only for first horses.

HORSES ARE SINGED IN A BLAZING BARN

HARD FIGHT TO SAVE WM. TYLER'S EQUINES.

Animals Were Gotten Out In Safety.
But a Jersey Bull Was Roasted In Its Stall—All the Contents of the Building Were Destroyed.

Edgerton, Wis., June 25—[Special]—Men fought fire to save several horses from a burning barn near Edgerton last night. The fire was on the farm of William Tyler, who lives three miles west of this city. It was discovered at 10:30 o'clock, and was burning briskly. Nothing could be done to save the building, so the people devoted their time to rescuing the equines. All were gotten out safely after a hard fight with the fire, but several of the animals were burned and singed quite seriously before they could be gotten out of their stalls and into the open air.

A Jersey bull was also quartered in the barn, and was roasted to death, the rescuers being unable to reach the animal.

Three sets of harness, all the farming tools and all the hay, etc., in the barn were burned.

The origin of the blaze is unknown, and as the building was all ablaze when the fire was discovered, there was nothing to indicate where or how it started. The loss will probably exceed $1,000 and is partially insured in the Town of Union Mutual Insurance Company.

ASKS ABOUT BUTTER MAKING

An "Interested Producer" Wants to Know
Why the Rates Vary

FOOTVILLE, JUNE 25—EDITOR GAZETTE—We, as farmers would like to have the creamery managers explain to us some things we cannot understand regarding the wide range of prices paid for the same test at the different factories, in the same localities, all pretending to sell at the same price, and charging the same price for making butter. For instance: A 4.1 test at one factory will net the farmer 54 cents, and a 4.1 test at another factory will net the farmer 48 cents, and still at another factory a 4.1 test will net the farmer 44 cents.

This is a mystery to the farmer. Supposing a factory pretending the butter sold at a net price of 15½ cents and making for 2½ cents, this would make a 4.1 test 54.3-10 per cwt. for milk.

Butter at 15½ cents less 3 cents for making, would make a 4.1 test net 51.2-10 cents per cwt. for milk. Butter at 15½ less 3½ cents for making a 4.1 test, leaves 49.2-10 cents per cwt. for milk. It is a wonder the majority of farmers prefer to sell their milk by the hundred pounds, while it is a temptation to the farmer to skim or water his milk while selling it by the hundred. Will the factorymen explain what object it is for them to make a variation of from 4.1 to 54 cents per hundred on the same test from the different factories for the same month?

ACCIDENTS AT INDIAN FORD.

Frank Brandy Kicked By a Horse—a Boy Hurt.

Indian Ford, June 25.—Frank Brandy, who was seriously hurt by being kicked by a horse at Charles Schofield's is able to be out. Little Percy Hallett was painfully hurt by being struck on the mouth with a bat during a ball game Sunday. Mrs. Miller, of Newville, passed through the Ford, on her wheel, Sunday night. J. C. Hurd is having his house repainted, which makes it look decidedly better.

Mr. Gilley of Evansville, visited Mr. and Mrs. John Scarcliff last week. E. L. Ward took in the sights at the Dells one day last week. Frank Redcliff and wife spent Sunday with O. Hallett and wife. Quite a number from here attended the ball game at Edgerton. Saturday Alexander Shuman, Henry Shuman, L. Bruce and Douglass Hopkins went fishing at the lake Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. W. Titus visited Mrs. Titus' parents, Saturday and Sunday. Four students from Milton college were seeking knowledge in the Ford quarters last week.

Maud Rose spent Sunday with relatives one day last week.

KELLY MAY BREAK THE RECORD
DIRECT LIKELY TO BEAT THE PACING MARK
THIS SEASON.

John Kelly is likely to ride the fastest mile ever paced by a horse hitched to a sulky this season, behind Direct, 2:05. The great pacemaker is going like a whirlwind, and in speaking of him "Volunteer," the noted staff correspondent of The Horse Review, says:

"To make Direct once more the champion pacer no improvement in his speed is necessary. He has paced a public quarter, to high-wheeled sulky, in 27½ seconds and a half in 1:04½. He has paced a public three-quarters, to a 'bike,' in 1:29½—the farthest distance that any harness horse has ever carried a better than a two-minute clip. His long rest has been necessitated, because he was raced until he was completely broken down. If his legs, not his speed, have improved thereby, I for one, believe that John Kelly can drive him a mile in better than 2:01½."

Kelly "made" Direct, and gave him his record.

The Review also says that Kelly's string at Washington Park would gladden the heart and eye of any horseman. They are all in perfect order and can "step to beat the band." Directum Kelly, by Direct, one of the Review $5,000 subscription stake candidates, was driven a quarter to road cart in 3½ seconds by Mr. Kelly, at Washington Park, last week—a wonderful clip for a two-year-old in June.

Miss Beatrice, by Direct, and sister of Miss Kate 2:21½, and also one of Kelly's eligibles to the Review $5,000 subscription stake, is one of the most perfect and beautiful fillies in America today.

THE PLANS FOR THE FOURTH.

Programme of the Events To Be Held at the Park.

The Fourth of July exercises at the court house park will open with the children's hour, which begins at 10:30 and continues until 11:30. During this time there will be songs by a children's chorus of between 200 and 300 children, a flag drill by young girls, a drill by the Christ Church Cadets, and a recitation by Miss Nettie Hoit.

Following the children's hour will come the athletic hour under the direction of S. S. Dixon, physical director of the Y. M. C. A. The following events will form a part of the programme that has been arranged. The prizes are also given:

Boys' running race, for boys between 8 and 14 years of age—1st pair of silver cuff buttons, donated by A. F. Hall & Co.; 2nd, bat and catcher's glove, Lowell Hardware Co.

ONE RING ENOUGH TO "GET CENTRAL"

MORE THAN THAT IS A WASTE OF TIME.

No Bell Sounds In the Ears of the Operator When You Get Mad and Whirl the Crank About Viciously—Signal Simply Drops a Disk.

"Hello, central, give me number so-and-so" said a Janesville business man, through the telephone this morning.

No answer came, and the business man waited perhaps thirty seconds. Then he grabbed the bell crank and spun it around viciously for about five minutes.

"I'll teach those girls to go to sleep while they are on duty!" he declared angrily, but a soft answer turned away his wrath an instant later, and when he finished talking he said that probably the operators had troubles of their own, and he was sorry that he had "rung the bell in their ears so long."

But his sympathy was wasted.

Probably but a comparative few of the hundreds of people who use a telephone daily could give an explanation of how the connections are made at the central office, or in other words what transpires from the time he rings up the central office until he hears the "hello" of the party with whom he wishes to talk. The man who for some reason does not get connection the first time he rings, and who in his impatience rings hard for a minute, under the impression that he is deafening the ears of the central girls, and squaring himself in this way, would be very much chagrined perhaps if he knew that all his vindictive ringing gives rise to only a slight rattle of the indicator in the central office, that could not be heard a yard away from the switch board.

No Bell Rings at Central

The system used at the "central office" is "simple and complicated." There is a large vertical board standing on a narrow table, before which the operators sit. On this board called the switchboard, are a number of black disks about an inch square, a number equal to the number of instruments in connection with that office.

These disks are arranged in rows, and have a hinge at the bottom, and are held up at the top by a vibrat'r, a small rod with a ratchet catch. When the subscriber rings the bell, the rod vibrates, allowing the disk to fall, revealing the number of his instrument on the copper plate under the disk. The operator then knows who wants to talk. If the line is in good working order the disk falls at the first tap of the bell and subsequent ringing causes the rod to rattle slightly in its confines, and nothing more. On the switchboard below the indicators are a number of rows of holes called "jacks" and in the table at the base of the board are a number of "plugs": the metal ends of connecting wires. These plugs are in pairs, and each pair forms a circuit when connected. Outside this row of plugs is a row of levers for connection with the central office, and further out is a row of electric buttons, to be connected with various bells. As soon as the operator catches your number from the metal plate, she puts one of a pair of plugs into the appropriate jack, throws down a lever and thus connects the ringer with the central office.

Workings Of The Board.

The operator says "hello" or "number," and the ringer gives the number of the phone with which he wants connection. The operator then raises the lever cutting him off from the central office, places the other plug of the pair in the jack corresponding to the number wanted, rings up that number by pressing one of the buttons, and the connection is completed. When the talkers are through they should "ring off," that is, give the bell light turn. This throws down an indicator in the bottom row of the switchboard. The operator then pulls out both plugs and the circuit is broken. In ringing off, it facilitates matters somewhat if both parties would ring. If the "ring off" indicator does not fall after the connections have been made for a few minutes the operator "cuts in," that is, throws down the lever and listens to see if the parties are still talking. If she hears nothing she says "hello," and if no answer is received from either party cuts them both out by pulling out the plugs as above described. The ring-off indicator is patented by the Bell Telephone Company, the right on which will not expire for some time and therefore cannot be used by any other company.

A "night call," however, causes a bell to ring until the operator wakes up and "cuts it off" by answering.

MRS. VOBIG WAS TAKEN SICK.

Husband Ran His Horse From Mayflower Park For a Doctor.

Mrs. Charles Vobig was taken sick while attending the St. John's church picnic at Mayflower park last night, and it was thought that she was going to die. Her husband ran his horse from the park to this city, and went up Milwaukee street at 7:30 o'clock, as fast as the animal could go, after Dr. Pember. When the doctor reached the park, he found Mrs. Vobig suffering with cramps in the stomach. She soon recovered, but her husband's quick trip through town caused considerable excitement.

C. A. POTTER TO WEAR A UNIFORM.

C. & N. W. Road Wants Station Agents to Don the Blue.

Charles A. Potter is soon to "don the blue." This does not mean that the jolly and accommodating C. & N. W. ticket agent is going to join the police force, but that he is to put on a uniform. This is not an idea of Mr. Potter's, for he has no choice in the matter. The Northwestern has decided to uniform all its station agents. The uniforms are to be ordered and ready to don between now and October 1, and they will be similar in color and style to those worn by conductors, while baggage men will wear uniforms like those used by the passenger brakemen.

MANY ARE SMOKING CIGARETTES

One Dealer Says He Sells One Thousand Each Week.

A thousand cigarettes a week. That is the record of sales that a west side restaurant proprietor reports. The retailers in the city report that the sale of the cigarette is increasing and that men as well as boys are picking up the habit.

SIX SCORES WENT TO LAKE GENEVA

THIS MORNING'S EXCURSION WELL PATRONIZED.

The Names of the Janesvillians Who Took the Jaunt—St. Catherine's Reading Circle Meets For the Last Time—Yesterday's Pleasant "Bicycle Party."

The Lake Geneva excursion over the Northwestern road this morning, was a success, in spite of the early morning showers, which no doubt kept many from going. At 8:55 o'clock, three coaches, of which two were filled, were attached to the "accommodation," and were switched off at Harvard. Agent Potter reports the sale of 114 tickets, but among those who went were a number from Evansville, Milton and Milton Junction, while others drove in from the country. Among those who went from here were:

Messrs. and Mesdames—
A. Austin, Elmer Withrel,

READING CIRCLE LAST EVENING.

Season Was Closed in a Very Pleasant Manner Last Night.

St. Catherine's Reading circle closed the season's work in a very pleasant manner at the Union League Hall last evening. Supper was served at 6:30, and after the feast, and before the banqueters were allowed to rise, each one was compelled to compose a poem of two lines or more, and recite it. The compositions caused much merriment and music and dancing served to make the following hours pass quickly. Each young lady was presented with a souvenir card on which was printed the name of the young lady, the name of the circle and its motto: "In necessary things, unity; in doubtful things, liberty; in all things, charity." The feast lasted until 10 o'clock and those who took part were:

Mrs. John Baker.
Misses—
Minnie Joyce, Maggie Joyce,
Katherine Joyce, Nellie Hickey,
Sarah Hickey, Mary Morrissey,
Margaret Barron, Margaret Buckley,
Katherine Buckley, Nellie Jones,

BICYCLE PICNIC MUCH ENJOYED.

Pleasant Gathering At Afton Bridge Yesterday Afternoon.

The first "bicycle picnic" of the season was given at Afton bridge yesterday afternoon, by the Janesville and Beloit bicycle riders. The party rode their wheels down in the afternoon, and returned by moonlight. The Janesville people were:

Messrs. and Mesdames—
M. G. Jeffs, Charles B. Bostwick,
Frank H. Jackman.

Mesdames—
Mabel Jackman, Lou Kent,
Mae Stevens, Ella Lane, Chicago;

A GOOD PRACTICE.

If You Want a Good Appetite and Perfect Digestion.

After each meal dissolve one or two of Stuart's D. speiss Tablets in the mouth and, mingling with the food, they constitute a perfect digestive, absolutely safe for the most sensitive stomach.

They digest the food before it has time to ferment, thus preventing the formation of gas and keeping the blood pure and free from the poisonous products of fermented, half-digested food.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets make the complexion clear by keeping the blood pure.

They increase flesh by digesting flesh-forcing foods.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets is the only remedy designed especially for the cure of stomach troubles and nothing else.

One disease, one remedy, the successful physician of to-day is the specialist, the successful medicine is the medicine prepared especially for one disease.

A whole package taken at one time would not hurt you, but would simply be a waste of good material.

Over six thousand men and women in the state of Michigan alone have been cured of indigestion and dyspepsia by the use of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets.

Sold by all druggists at 25 cents per package.

REPUBLICAN STATE CONVENTION.

TO THE REPUBLICAN ELECTORS OF WISCONSIN.—By direction of the state central committee, a convention of the republican electors of the state of Wisconsin will be held in the city of Milwaukee, on Wednesday, the 5th day of August, 1896, at 12 o'clock noon, for the purpose of nominating a republican state ticket to be voted for at the general election in November next, and to transact such other business as may properly come before the convention. Rock county is entitled to the following delegates:

Second Assembly District..... 8

Third Assembly District..... 9

EDWIN D. COE, Chairman.

JOHN M. EWING, Secretary.

A WORD FROM THE GOVERNOR.

A manly and straightforward statement is that of Governor Upham, explaining his refusal of a second term. The directness and frankness of the statement make comment needless. Addressing himself to Chairman E. D. Coe, of the state central committee, Governor Upham says:

"I believe it to be the proper thing for me to inform you, as chairman of the Republican State Central Committee, that I shall not be a candidate for a renomination as governor. I have not at any time since I took upon myself the duties of this high office considered myself a candidate, but party usage has made it appear probable that I would accept a renomination. I am certain that I could be renominated and elected, but in order that the rights of no candidate shall be prejudiced from lack of information, this announcement is made prior to the calling of any conventions, that all delegates may be elected with full information as to the political situation.

"There is no official act of the administration for which I desire to make any apology, or offer any defense. My reasons for determining not to be a candidate I can briefly give. I have all my life been a republican, and a loyal one. I consider the mission of the republican party so important that the party welfare is of greater moment to me than the interests of any one man. For reasons that are not clear to me, I have been assailed by criticism, which I am satisfied time will prove to have been unjust. This criticism has reached a point where it was believed by some to imperil the party interests. If I understood my own sentiments, I would at any time sacrifice all my personal interests in behalf of the party whose principles I believe in, and certainly in this case, while I am unable to understand the ground for much of the criticism, yet, not for one moment will I as a loyal republican, and a believer in the principles for which the republican party stands, allow myself to even seem to be in the way of party success.

"I desire it understood that I stand ready to do all in my power in the campaign approaching, to further the interests of the party.

W. H. UPHAM.

EIGHTEEN STATES SURE.

A free silver democratic plan will give the republicans eighteen states without a struggle—Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, Vermont and Wisconsin. This will give the republicans 238 electoral votes, or fourteen in excess of the number needed for a choice. It will be a majority of twenty-nine, though, over the combined opposition, for all that will be left for the democrats, populists, and the rest of the non-republican elements will be 209. The republicans will carry more states than the eighteen listed, without the least doubt, but there is no need of claiming them—let them come as a graceful mark of the nation's gratitude.

Our democratic friends need not worry about the lack of republican enthusiasm. Republicans have too much good sound sense to work them.

selves into a sunstroke at this season. Later there will be plenty of republican enthusiasm, and, what is more important, it will be backed by votes enough to elect McKinley and Hobart.

That eighty-year-old Ohio democrat who heard his own funeral sermon preached the other day was more fortunate than his party will be in November when democracy will be buried in disgrace without any funeral sermon or ceremonies.

An attempt is being made to goad Senator Gorman into attending the Chicago convention, but it hasn't yet succeeded. Mr. Gorman doesn't wish to unnecessarily scorch his fingers. He has no nuts of his own in that fire.

The friendly argument of Ex-Secretary Whitney is much more dangerous to the silver democrats than the dogmatic bluntness of Mr. Cleveland's opposition.

Senator-elect Foraker says the financial plank of the St. Louis convention is a declaration that we will stand where we can until we can do better.

Jerry Simpson will have another "go" at a seat in the house, but the republicans of the district will see that he doesn't get there.

Miss Democracy seems uncertain about whether she'll keep that free silver baby or pass it on to the popular asylum.

PRACTICAL KNOWLEDGE.

"I suppose you know all about the financial question?" said the intimate friend.

"I don't say that I know all about it," replied the candidate. "But I know enough not to talk about it."—Washington Star.

KNOWS NO FEAR.

"Are you afraid, Lily, when you go driving with Mr. Phillips that the horse will run away?"

"No, indeed. Mr. Phillips has trained his horse to drive without lines."—Detroit Free Press.

coin, for all debts and dues, public and private.

"Resolved, That the delegates-at-large this day chosen by this convention from the several congressional districts be and they are hereby instructed to use all honorable means to secure the adoption of the principles contained in the foregoing resolutions by the national democratic convention, to be held at Chicago July 7, and to vote only for candidates for president and vice president who are known to be in full accord therewith, and to accomplish these ends to cast the votes from the state of Ohio as a unit as a majority may determine."

J. D. Patterson of Dayton presented a minority report covering the Monroe doctrine, election of senators by the people, Cuban question, tariff reform, personal liberty and all the usual declarations of democratic conventions, including the reaffirmation of the national platform of 1892. The republican administration and state legislature were strongly denounced. No reference to the financial question was made and Mr. Patterson said it was left out in the interest of harmony.

The minority report was signed by four members and the majority report by sixteen members of the committee. The minority report was promptly defeated. Another motion to strike out the unit rule resolution was made and entertained. It was defeated. When the gold men demanded a call of the counties on the adoption of the majority report the result was—yeas, 542; nays, 128.

THAT CIRCUS FIGHT NOW THREE HANDED

HOT RIVALRY BETWEEN BIG SHOWS.

Lemen Brothers, With the Re-organized W. W. Cole Circus, Join In the Fray and Will Attempt to Beat Both Ringling Brothers and Buffalo Bill—Boards In Demand.

The "circus war" has taken a new tack.

Before, it was a fight between Ringling Brothers and Buffalo Bill.

Now Lemen Bros. have joined in the fracas, and the competition is keen. Buffalo Bill was the first on the scene, his date being August 27. His agents contracted for all the bill boards they could find, and covered them up with gaudy pictures of the modern Aborigine and rampant cowboy. Then Ringling Brothers, who show at Beloit, sent their men here to bill Janesville, and thus get the Bower City money into their red wagon before Buffalo Bill put in an appearance—the Ringling date at the Line City being some days before Fill's show will get here. These two big concerns put their bills side by side all over the county, and there is scarcely a barn, or even a big stone along the road, that has not been decorated by the paste artists.

The Lemon Brothers—the old W. W. Cole show reorganized—decided to show in Janesville. July 9 is their date, and they sent car No. 1, manned by twelve men, to this city. The car and the men arrived this morning, but found that both the other shows were ahead of them.

Found No Bare Boards.

There were no dead walls, etc., on which to put Lemen bills, and nearly every store window contained one of Buffalo Bill's posters.

All the Spence Company's space was covered with Ringling bills.

All the opera house space had been leased to Buffalo Bill.

But Lemon Brothers' men did not despond. They called on Manager Stoddard, and soon carpenters were at work building new boards in different parts of the city. As fast as these boards went up, Lemen Brothers' paste brigade covered them with lithographs.

Now all three concerns are looking for new worlds to conquer, and the end is not yet.

Circus men figure that people will only go to one circus a year. They plan to attend the one that catches their fancy, and then give the others the cold shoulder. Consequently each combination hopes to be "the one," and that the other two will get left. The stakes played for are not what money Janesville people will spend, but takes in the whole county, so that the fight is worth winning.

FEW AT BELOIT COLLEGE CONCERT

The Attendance From This City Was Rather Light.

Janesville was not largely represented at the Beloit College concert last evening, but those who attended pronounce the event a grand success. After the concert, which was given in the First Congregational church, a reception was tendered those present in the church parlors, and a dance was held in the church parlors, and a dance was given in the Phi Kappa Psi house. Those present from this city were Miss Mac Cunningham, W. S. Jeffris, Edwin Halverson, Harry Ruger, Fred Jeffris and E. J. Stevens.

ARE TO BUILD A BRICK OFFICE.

Pendleton & Gilkey Make Improvements at Their Lumber Yard.

Pendleton & Gilkey commenced work this morning remodeling the Lovejoy lumber yard, which they lately purchased. The most noticeable improvement will be the erection of a new office building to face Milwaukee street, which will be one story high, and adjoin the present structure. It will be built of brick, in compliance with the city fire limit ordinance.

BODY DID NOT ARRIVE TODAY.

Funeral of Edward J. Brown To Be Held Tomorrow.

The remains of Edward J. Brown, who was killed in a wreck in Vermont last Monday, were expected to arrive in this city this noon, but did not come. W. R. Brown received a dispatch this afternoon, stating that a wreck had delayed the remains, but that they would be forwarded on the first train. The funeral will be held from the home, 108 Fourth avenue, at 3:30 p. m. tomorrow. Friends are invited.

Funeral of Mrs. Schuenke.

Funeral services over the remains of Mrs. Augusta Schuenke were held from the residence this afternoon at 2 o'clock and from St. Paul's church at 3 o'clock, Rev. C. J. Koerner, officiating. The interment was made at Oak Hill.

William Crook.

A telegram from Appleton to D. Ryan, announces the death of William Crook of Albany, who is well known here.

Change In Styles.

There was a time not long ago, when it was impossible to get styles in foot-wear without paying high prices and getting the best shoes. Cheaper grades were not looked to with any particular attention by manufacturers. Not so in these days, though. In the $2.00, $2.50 and $3 ladies shoes the style is as late and the shoe as pretty as the higher priced goods. Manufacturers are devoting more time and attention to cheaper goods and are perfecting this class more and more each year. $2.50 buys a splendid ladies' black or tan shoe at our store. Ask to see them. A. Richardson Shoe Co.

POLICE ARE LOOKING FOR CHARLES KITLAN

UGLY CHARGE MADE AGAINST JAMESVILLE MAN.

Dane County Authorities Want Him to Explain How the Name of a Rutland Farmer Became Attached to a $65 Note—Accused Man Leaves Town.

Charles Kitlan and his wife, who have made Janesville their home for the past eight months, have left for parts unknown, and the local police are endeavoring to locate them, that Mr. Kitlan may tell them about a certain alleged forgery.

Kitlan and his wife, on their arrival in the city, made their home at the Highland House, and during their stay here became well acquainted with Janesville people. He was a middle aged man, and represented a wire fence firm. In their interest he canvassed the county with much success. While on one of his trips, Kitlan visited Dane county, and while there, it is charged, forged the name of a Rutland county farmer to a note for $65, cashing the paper with Barker Dow, in Stoughton. The facts of the case soon developed, and Chief of Police Acheson was notified, and Sheriff Michelson, of Madison, came down. They traced Kitlan to the St. Paul depot, where it was found that he had purchased tickets to Dubuque, Iowa. Sheriff Michelson then left for the west, and the local officers are hourly expecting telegrams notifying them of Kitlan's capture.

No Words Wasted.

Briggs—A friend of mine got off a bright thing the other day. He called on a young lady who had a pet dog she was trying to make bark, but the dog wouldn't, until she finally said: "Fido, if you will bark for me, I'll kiss you." Then my friend spoke up and said: "I can bark pretty well myself."

Griggs—Ha, ha! What did the girl say?

Briggs—Nothing. She simply sent the dog away.—Bay City Chat.

Perfectly Reliable.

A tourist in Switzerland, who was about to make the ascent to a mountain, thought best to ask some questions as to the capabilities of his guide.

"Is he a thoroughly skillful climber?" he asked of a hotel-keeper.

"I should say so," exclaimed the inn-keeper. "He has lost two parties of tourists down the mountain side and escaped without a scratch both times."

Tit-Bits.

Her Triumph.

Two women contended to win the same man, Each followed their game on a different plan: While one missed the goal, merely pleasing his eye, The other struck home with a fresh cherry pie.

—Chicago Record.

MATRIMONIAL ITEM.

This truth by majority carried—
"Tis agreed on by men near and far:
Men are overjoyed to get married,
But more over-jawed when they are.
—Texas Sifter.

Right Man in the Right Place.

Railroad President—I want you to make room for that idiot nephew of mine who has just come from college.

Manager—What does he know about railroads?

President—Absolutely nothing.

Manager—Good. I'll put him at the head of the information bureau.—Town Topics.

The Reward of Perseverance.

He sprained his arm—he bruised his wrist—

He gave his ankle bone a twist.
His nerves chilled like an icicle,
He tore his pa—, he lost a shoe,
Ran into dogs, and youngsters, too.
Braved death's untimely, wry sickle.
But still he persevered, and now,
Although no laurel crowns his brow
He manages his bicycle.

—Philadelphia Press.

Papa's Kindness.

"Mr. Lovehome seems to be a very kind father. He takes his children to the woods every Sunday afternoon."

"Yes; he sits under a tree and reads his paper, while they find wasps' nests and tumble into ditches."—Detroit Free Press.

A Good Reason.

"I don't like his dog," he said, speaking of his rival.

"Why, his dog once saved his life," she exclaimed in surprise.

"That's the reason I don't like the dog," he answered, bitterly.—Chicago Post.

Sound Advice.

Borrowall (happening in)—That's a fine machine of yours, Ferguson. Some day I'll come around and take it out for a little spin. By the way, what kind of bicycle would you advise me to ride?

Ferguson—I'd advise you to ride one of your own.—Chicago Tribune.

Excited Her Sympathy.

Mrs. Hussif—What did you work at? Rural Ruggs—I had a job in a soap factory, mum.

Mrs. Hussif (pitifully)—Come in and eat. It must be terrible to be out of work so long as you've been.—N. Y. World.

Just Noticed It.

"And shall I speak to your father?" asked the young man. "Never mind about papa," said the young woman; "I'll fix him." For the first time he noticed the width and squareness of her inferior maxillary.—Indianapolis Journal.

Blushed Like a Lobster.

Gussie—Look at Mary Mashem blushing. I bet her mother is giving her fits for flirting with young Poorleigh.

De Cynicus—Yes, that girl always reminds me of a lobster—turns red when she's in hot water.—N. Y. World.

Strange, But True.

Baker—But it's really impossible for me to lend you any money! Why don't you go to somebody that knows you?

Smith—That would be of no use at all, my dear sir. It's a perfect stranger I want.—Texas Sifter.

As a Boy Seen It.

Little Boy—Isn't fathers queer?

Auntie—in what manner?

Little Boy—When a little boy does anything for his papa he doesn't get anything, but if another man's boy does it he gets a penny.—Buffalo Express.

Cause and Effect.

Winters—How bowlegged Slimleigh is. He wasn't so always. What's the matter?

Waters—He's been courting Miss Flumper for three years, and she weighs 200 pounds.—Town Topics.

Bonds of Friendship.

"Louise, I shall miss you dreadfully when you go away for the summer."

"Will you, dear?"

"Yes, there isn't another woman in our set who has your facility for picking up gossip."—Chicago Record.

Reason Enough.

Blenkington—I wonder why "church-yards yawn," as Shakespeare says?

Pemberton—Probably the epitaphs of deceased millionaires make them tired.—Truth.

DOGGY STOPS THE DIVORCE.

A Touching Incident in a Berlin Court Room.

A very touching incident occurred recently in the Berlin divorce court, says an exchange. A lady, well known in society, had caught her husband, who was sportively inclined, paying much attention to one of the stars of the ballet in the royal opera. The consequence was a divorced suit. Both parties appeared early on the day the trial was to come off with their lawyers. She arrived dressed in mourning, tried to appear indifferent but tears trickling down once in a while, which she quickly wiped off with a lace handkerchief, proved that the defendant on the other side of the room was not quite forgotten. He spoke with his lawyer, who had taken all the steps he considered possible to bring about their reconciliation; now and then he threw imploring glances upon the little woman, which she did not seem to notice at all. With him was a little Skye terrier, Petit, who once was the declared favorite of his wife, but now did not receive any encouragement from his former gracious mistress. Sadly the dog looked from one to the other and evidently could not understand why these two people were so estranged. By accident the lady dropped her handkerchief. Quick as lightning the little Skye terrier jumped at it, picked it up and brought it to his mistress, rising upon his hind legs, which trick he had been taught by her, and glanced up with a truly pitiful look to his mistress. Sobbing loudly, she raised up the dog and kissed him and as her husband, making good use of the opportunity, went up toward her she met him half way and, throwing her arms around his neck, sobbed loudly on his breast and promised him forgiveness. The divorce, of course, was out of the question and he, she and both lawyers adjourned to a near restaurant to celebrate the reunion brought about by the little Skye terrier.

An Opportunity For An Eastern Trip.

Tickets will be sold July 5th and 6th, and will be valid for return journey until September 1st, if deposited with the joint agent of the railroad lines at Buffalo on or before July 10th. The B. & O. route is via rail to Cleveland, and thence via the palatial steamers of the Cleveland & Buffalo Transit Co. Ask your agent for tickets via the B. & O. R. R.

An Illusion Dispelled.

Agnes—it seems wicked to eat those dear little spring lambs that gambol on the green!

Paul—Don't worry, dear, they are never eaten while they are able to gambo!—Detroit Free Press.

The big, hearty,

healthy man is a continual irritation to his dyspeptic friend. Constipation is the root of nine-tenths of the sickness of men, and of a large proportion of the sickness of women. It can be cured easily, naturally and quickly. Nature is continually working as hard as she can to throw off impurities, and to force out poisonous refuse matter. When there is an impediment, Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets set the wheels working again without any trouble. They assist nature in a gentle, healthful, efficient way. There is nothing violent about their action, and yet it is just as certain as if it were twice as violent. "You do not become a slave to their use." They are different and better than any other pill for the cure of constipation, headache and kindred derangements. Almost all druggists understand this, and are conscientious enough to tell you so. The druggist who tries to sell you a substitute is not a safe man from whom to buy medicine.

SWEETHEART THE TRUE.

I dream I tread again a path
Which naught but lurking beauty hath,
By dark green bank of cooing stream,
All glorious in its flashing leme,
Winding afar through cooling shade
Of woven branched, thick leaved arcade,
Its soft moss borders flower limmed
In flecking light by clouds ne'er dimmed—
A wondrous scene, but part unfrid'd
The big rose garden of the world.
Ah, fair! So fair, it can but seem
To pilgrims in a deep, deep dream
The vision when in Life's young days
Enthusiasm spreads a haze
By which a color fine is wrought—
Upon each bloom ambition sought,
A vision still to him who walks
Its farther end, past lifeless stalks.
The trav'ler who the best can tell
That in mirage ideals dwell—
That for all buds that he has found
Ashes of roses strew the ground.
Then each will fade?

No—one is true
To cheer when every rosebud hue
Has vanished in the gloomy gray,
And all bright visions flee away.
Sweetheart the true, the fairer grown—
Fairest that you are alone.
—Womankind.

HIS FIRST FIGHT.

A friend of mine, a soldier, who died in Greece of fever some years since, described to me one day his first engagement. His story so impressed me that I wrote it down from memory. It was as follows:

I joined my regiment on Sept. 4. It was evening. I found the colonel in the camp. He received me rather brusquely, but having read the general's introductory letter he changed his manner and addressed me courteously.

By him I was presented to my captain, who had just come in from reconnoitering. This captain, whose acquaintance I had scarcely time to make, was a tall, dark man of harsh, repelling aspect. He had been a private soldier and had won his cross and epaulets upon the field of battle. His voice, which was hoarse and feeble, contrasted strangely with his gigantic stature. This voice of his he owed, as I was told, to a bullet which had passed completely through his body at the battle of Jena.

On learning that I had just come from college at Fontainebleau, he remarked with a wry face, "My lieutenant died last night."

I understood what he implied—"It is for you to take his place, and you are good for nothing."

A sharp retort was on my tongue, but I restrained it.

The moon was rising behind the redoubt of Cheverino, which stood two cannon shots from our encampment. The moon was large and red, as is common at her rising, but that night she seemed to me of extraordinary size. For an instant the redoubt stood out coal black against the glittering disk. It resembled the cone of a volcano at the moment of eruption.

An old soldier at whose side I found myself observed the color of the moon.

"She is very red," he said. "It is a sign that it will cost us dear to win this wonderful redoubt."

I was always superstitious, and this piece of augury, coming at that moment, troubled me. I sought my couch, but could not sleep. I rose and walked about awhile, watching the long line of fires upon the heights beyond the village of Cheverino.

When the sharp night air had thoroughly refreshed my blood, I went back to the fire. I rolled my mantle round me, and I shut my eyes, trusting not to open them till daybreak. But sleep refused to visit me. Insensibly my thoughts grew doleful. I told myself that I had not a friend among the 100,000 men who filled that plain. If I were wounded, I should be placed in hospital in the hands of ignorant and careless surgeons. I called to mind what I had heard of operations. My heart beat violently, and I mechanically arranged as a kind of rude cuirass my handkerchief and pocketbook upon my breast. Then, overpowered with weariness, my eyes closed drowsily, only to open the next instant with a start at some new thought of horror.

Fatigue, however, at last gained the day. When the drums beat at daybreak, I was fast asleep. We were drawn up in ranks. The roll was called, then we stacked our arms, and everything announced that we should pass another uneventful day.

But about 3 o'clock an aid-de-camp arrived with orders. We were commanded to take arms.

Our sharpshooters marched into the plain. We followed slowly, and in 20 minutes we saw the outposts of the Russians falling back and entering the redoubt. We had a battery of artillery on our right, another on our left, but both some distance in advance of us. They opened a sharp fire upon the enemy, who returned it briskly, and the redoubt of Cheverino was soon concealed by volumes of thick smoke. Our regiment was almost covered from the Russians' fire by a piece of rising ground. Their bullets (which besides were rarely aimed at us) for they preferred to fire upon our cannoneers) whistled over us, or at worst knocked up a shower of earth and stones.

Just as the order to advance was given, the captain looked at me intently. I stroked my sprouting mustache with an air of unconcern. In truth, I was not frightened and only dreaded lest I might be thought so. These passing bullets aided my heroic coolness, while my self respect assured me that the danger was a real one, since I was veritably under fire.

I was delighted at my self possession and already looked forward to the pleasure of describing in Parisian drawing rooms the capture of the redoubt of Cheverino.

The colonel passed before our company. "Well," he said to me, "you are going to see warm work in your first attack."

I gave a martial smile and brushed off my cuff, on which a bullet which had struck the earth at 30 paces distant had cast a little dust.

It appeared that the Russians had discovered that their bullets did no harm, for they replaced them by a fire of shells, which began to reach us in the hollows where we lay. One of these in its explosion knocked off my shako and killed a man beside me.

"I congratulate you," said the captain as I picked up my shako. "You are safe now for the day."

I knew the military superstition which believes that the axiom "non bis in idem" is as applicable to the battlefield as to the courts of justice. I replaced my shako with a swagger.

"That's a rude way to make one raise one's hat," I said as lightly as I could. And this wretched piece of wit was, in the circumstances, received as excellent.

"I compliment you," said the captain. "You will command a company tonight, for I shall not survive the day. Every time I have been wounded the officer below me has been touched by some spent ball, and," he added in a lower tone, "all the names began with P."

I laughed skeptically. Most people would have done the same, but most would also have been struck, as I was, by these prophetic words. But, conscript though I was, I felt that I could trust my thoughts to no one, and that it was my duty to seem always calm and bold.

At the end of half an hour the Russian fire had sensibly diminished. We left our cover to advance on the redoubt.

Our regiment was composed of three battalions. The second had to take the enemy in flank. The two others formed the storming party. I was in the third.

On issuing from behind the cover we were received by several volleys, which did but little harm. The whistling of the balls amazed me. "But after all," I thought, "a battle is less terrible than I expected."

We advanced at a smart run, our musketeers in front.

All at once the Russians uttered three hurrahs, three distinct hurrahs, and then stood silent without firing.

"I don't like that silence," said the captain. "It bodes no good."

I began to think our people were too eager. I could not help comparing, mentally, their shouts and clamor with the striking silence of the enemy.

We quickly reached the foot of the redoubt. The palisades were broken and the earthworks shattered by our balls. With a roar of "Vive l'empereur!" our soldiers rushed across the ruins.

I raised my eyes. Never shall I forget the sight which met my view. The smoke had mostly lifted and remained suspended like a canopy at 20 feet above the redoubt. Through a bluish mist could be perceived behind the shattered parapet the Russian grenadiers with rifles lifted, as motionless as statues. I can see them still—the left eye of every soldier glaring at us, the right hidden by his lifted gun. In an embrasure at a few feet distant a man with a fuse stood by a cannon.

I shuddered. I believed that my last hour had come.

"Now for the dance to open," cried the captain. These were the last words I heard him speak.

There came from the redoubts a roll of drums. I saw the muzzles lowered. I shut my eyes. I heard a most appalling crash of sound, to which succeeded groans and cries. Then I looked up, amazed to find myself still living. The redoubt was once more wrapped in smoke. I was surrounded by the dead and wounded. The captain was extended at my feet. A ball had carried off his head, and I was covered with his blood. Of all the company only six men except myself remained erect.

This carnage was succeeded by a kind of stupor. The next instant the colonel, with his hat on his sword's point, had scaled the parapet with a cry of "Vive l'empereur!" The survivors followed him. All that succeeded is to me a kind of dream. We rushed into the redoubt; I know not how; we fought hand to hand in the midst of smoke so thick that no man could perceive his enemy. I found my saber dripping blood, I heard a shout of "Victory!" and in the clearing smoke I saw the earthworks piled with dead and dying. The canons were covered with a heap of corpses. About 200 men in the French uniform were standing without order loading their muskets or wiping their bayonets. Eleven Russian prisoners were with them.

The colonel was lying, bathed in blood, upon a broken cannon. A group of soldiers crowded round him. I approached them.

"Who is the oldest captain?" he was asking of a sergeant.

The sergeant shrugged his shoulders most expressively.

"Who is the oldest lieutenant?"

"This gentleman, who came last night," replied the sergeant calmly.

The colonel smiled bitterly.

"Come, sir," he said to me, "you are now in chief command. Fortify the gorge of the redoubt at once with wagons, for the enemy is out in force. But General C—— is coming to support you."

"Colonel," I asked him, "are you badly wounded?"

"Pish, my dear fellow. The redoubt is taken."—Prosper Merimee.

Couriers and Interpreters In Spain.

On the platform we were stopped, first by hotel touts, who told us in bad French that we must go with them, and then by interpreters, who said that they could speak German, which was of no possible use to us, or English, which we could hear was no more fluent than our Spanish, and porters, who fought to carry our bags, and customs officers, who wanted to look into them, and of course the most hideous of beggars. We did so there mounted to its front seat the most odious of the interpreters, sweet and smiling, and no doubt later at the Roma he claimed a fee for having captured us.—Elizabeth Robins Pennell in Century.

THE BLUES.

A GRAPHIC DESCRIPTION OF THE DREADFUL FEELING.

What Is Meant by This Form of Acute Misery—Where Doctors Make Mistakes.

When a cheerful, brave, light-hearted woman is suddenly plunged into that perfection of misery, the BLUES, it is a sad picture.

It is usually this way:

She has been feeling "out of sorts" for some time; head has ached, and back also; has slept poorly;

been quite nervous, and nearly fainted once or twice; head dizzy, and heart has beat very fast; then that bearing-down feeling.

Her doctor says, "cheer up, you have dyspepsia; you'll be all right soon."

But she doesn't get "all right."

She grows worse day by day, till at once she realizes that a distressing female complaint is established.

Her doctor has made a mistake.

She has lost faith in him; hope vanishes; then comes the brooding, morbid, melancholy, everlasting BLUES.

Her doctor, if he knew, should have told her and cured her, but he did not,

and she was allowed to suffer.

By chance she came across one of Mrs.

Pinkham's books, and in it she found her very symptoms described and an explanation of what they meant. Then she wrote to Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn,

Mass., for advice, feeling that she was telling her troubles to a woman.

Speedy relief followed, and vigorous health returned.
